

Rocket League Quick Start Guide

How do I get started and what equipment do I need?

1. First, a steady internet connection. Most basic internet packages are acceptable for gaming. The faster the internet being used, the smoother the experience will be.
2. Second, figure out what platform you will be playing on and make sure your device is compatible.
3. Third, a controller. For Rocket League, a standard computer keyboard and mouse can be used, but an actual controller is the recommended playstyle for Rocket League as it allows for easier control of the cars (i.e., Xbox or PlayStation USB controller which can be plugged into a PC or console). Also, some companies have created adaptive controllers if additional assistance is needed.
4. Lastly, a headset with a mic or some other way to communicate with teammates during matches. This could mean a gaming headset, earbuds, a phone, a tablet, etc. Talking and being able to interact is a big part of the social interactions of gaming. Basic USB controllers and gaming headsets can be purchased for less than $30 each.

Device Options
